Community Christmas weekend planned for Minden

Minden's Business Improvement Area (BIA) is planning an entire weekend of Christmas activities to kick off the holiday season in the village.

By combining several seasonal events during the first weekend in December, the BIA is going to promote a Hometown Christmas Celebration that will include the annual Santa Claus Parade, decoration of the downtown core, a Moonlight Madness Sale and a community tree-trimming of the tree in front of the CIBC on Main Street.

The weekend festivities will begin on Friday, Nov. 30 with the Moonlight Madness Sale being planned by Brian Moore of Westside Jug City. All members of the business community, and not just BIA members, are being encouraged to participate in the promotion which will be geared towards local residents as opposed to tourists.

On Saturday the Minden Lions Club will be holding the second annual Santa Claus Parade. At last Monday's meeting, Moore, representing the Lions, told BIA members that plans for this year's parade are well under way.

Moore said the club is having trouble finding a band to participate in the parade. He said the high school band had been contacted but were not interested in taking part.

The Lions have increased the parade budget this year by $1,200 and hope to use the extra money to hire a band. The BIA agreed to donate $700 to the parade and will offer an additional $300 if the Lions are successful in hiring a band for the event.

The idea of holding a community tree decoration on Sunday Dec. 2 was presented to BIA members by Carol Martin of the Minden Kinettes. She said the Kinettes

Council approves sale of parkland for supportive housing

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Minden council has agreed to sell three acres of parkland for construction of a senior supportive housing unit.

At last Thursday's meeting, council accepted a conditional offer to purchase from the Staanworth Non-Profit Housing Corporation.

The township has agreed to sell the land for $50,000, a price Deputy-Reeve Bern Berry objected to as being too low.

Berry also objected to council making a decision on the issue last Thursday because councillor Bob Sisson was absent from the meeting.

"It's quite a major move," said Berry. "We're one man short and that man has reservations about the sale." In previous meetings Sisson had expressed concerns about the township selling property that is part of the park.

The deadline for the offer to purchase to be accepted was Nov. 30 and Berry asked that the vote be held over until the Nov. 22 council meeting to allow Sisson to comment on the decision.

But councillor Lewis Stevens said there was no reason to delay the matter. "What if one of us isn't here on the 22nd?" he asked.

Berry said the by-law needed to sign the offer to purchase was not on the council's agenda and it was "pretty unusual" to have the matter added at the last minute.

Reeve Ray Moore said the matter had been before council on two previous occasions and the councillors had sent the offer back to the Staanworth committee asking for the township's conditions to be met.

Judge dismisses indecent assault case

A provincial court judge has dismissed two charges of indecent assault against a Haliburton man for incidents alleged to have occurred 10 years ago.

Last week in Minden, a girl testified that the man fondled her genitals and attempted sexual intercourse with her when he babysat her sometime between November 1980 and April 1981 when she was five years old.

She said he touched her "lower area" one time while bathing her, and locked her in the bedroom, fondling and attempting intercourse with her, several times thereafter.

Charges against the 24-year-old accused were only laid recently after the girl talked to one of her teachers, who later phoned the police.

The girl's cousin and a family friend each provided Judge George Inrig with testimony that the girl had told them the babysitter had touched her private area a short while after the alleged incident occurred.

The girl's mother testified that, although the girl asked that the accused no longer babysit, she didn't talk about the alleged incident until a while later. She said her normally outgoing and happy daughter became withdrawn and kept to her room for a year or more, but refused to say what was wrong.

When the mother did find out, she didn't want to press charges and put her young child through the ordeal of a court trial, she said when asked why nothing was done.

The mother also said, "I didn't want to cause trouble with friends." However, she later said she didn't have contact with the accused's family for seven years after learning about the alleged incident.

After a recess, the accused took the stand and said he did babysit for the family on six occasions, but never assaulted the girl.

Now married with children, the accused testified that he washed the girl once, at the sink and not in the bath, and without touching her genitals.

He also said he never went into the girl's bedroom. "I checked at the door," but was told years before by his mother not to go into a girl's room, he said.

The accused said the two families have always been close, and remained close until very recently. He and his mother both testified that the girl and her family have frequently slept over and eaten meals with his family since the time the incident is alleged to have occurred.

Defense attorney Brian Ward pointed out there were many inconsistencies in the testimonies provided on behalf of the girl, and that the girl's recollection is too foggy to be reliable.

He also noted the charges were laid a long time after the incident is alleged to have happened. Meanwhile, "everyone was sort of continuing on with their lives as if nothing ever happened... and she kept on coming to the house."

The crown attorney said the girl "may

Deputy-Reeve objects to low price in parkland sale to Staanworth Housing Corp.

"Now the conditions have been met and for some reason you're saying stop and wait until Bob comes back," Moore said to Berry.

The Deputy-Reeve again objected to the $50,000 pricetag. "I said before the price is too low, and I still think the price is too low," said Berry.

Stevens said considering the service the supportive housing facility will be offering to the community he didn't feel the township should be trying to get "a great profit" from the deal.

Councillor Mike Maher said he did not share Berry's concern about the price. "I'm not against the price," he said. "It's too low because it's a good cause." He also noted that the more money the corporation spends on the land, the less they will have to spend on the facility itself.

"The price comes out of the building," he said. "We might get $250,000 (for the property) but we'd lose a better facility."

And while he said he respected Berry's request to hold the vote until Sisson could be present, Maher said because Stevens, Moore and himself all support the deal, Sisson's vote would not affect the outcome.

Maher did express reservations about the deal because there is no guarantee of what services will be offered by the facility.

When the issue first came before council in July, Staanworth Chairman Ed Pergolas said the supportive housing unit would offer meal programs, homemaking and nursing all of which would be available to the residents in the two existing Staanworth buildings.

Maher said he supported the location for the unit on the assumption that it would offer services to the existing units.

Since the change in provincial government after the September election the Staanworth committee is no longer sure exactly what services or faciltiies the supportive housing will include.

"We're being asked to buy a pig in a poke," said Maher.

In a recorded vote, Maher, Moore and Stevens all supported the sale. Berry voted against the sale and asked that the clerk note his objections based on the price and Sisson's absence.

"It's not a question of my being against a senior citizens' facility going anywhere," said Berry. "I objected for those two reasons."

Staanworth's application for the supportive housing unit has to be completed by August 1991. If approved construction of the facility will not begin until sometime in 1992. The estimated cost of the project is between $4 million and $5 million and the corporation is hoping for approval to build 36 apartments.

are hoping that local families and former residents of the area will bring decorations, ornaments or lights to hang on the tree in front of the bank and join together as a community to celebrate the start of the Christmas season with friends old and new.

Martin said local church choirs have been contacted to lead the people in carol singing and The Times is donating carol sheets.

Gord Monk, who is Minden's liaison with Santa Claus during the Santa Claus Parade, will invite St. Nick to stay in the village after the parade on Saturday and join the community in the tree decoration on Sunday.

Ontario Hydro has agreed to supply a bucket truck and driver to assist in stringing the lights. Martin said students of Archie Stouffer Elementary School will also be invited to make decorations for the tree.

BIA members agreed that the event would promote community spirit and be a good kick off to the Christmas season.

In conjunction with the Community Christmas Celebration, local businesses are being encouraged to decorate their stores donate lights to decorate the downtown core to add to the Christmas atmosphere in the community.

Ride for Sight Fenelon bound

The Ride for Sight will be roaring into Fenelon Falls next June.

The event will be held in the 20-acre fairgrounds located in Fenelon Township on the outskirts of the village. Ride co-chairman Gerry German told The Times on Friday that both the township and village municipal councils support the proposal.

As well as the 20-acre park, the Ride has also been offered the use of a 150-acre piece of property which lies adjacent to the park. German says the property owner offered the use of the land without being contacted by the organizers.

After Minden council decided not to invite the event back into the village, German says the Ride for Site committee considered three other locations; the South Lake Tent and Trailer Park in Snowdon, Shannonville Speedway race track near Belleville and Fenelon Falls.

Although a delegation from Shannonville made "a hell of a presentation" German said the ride from Pickering to Belleville would have meant travelling on Highway 401. "It would have driven everyone nuts, the public and the riders," said German.

Fenelon Falls is an ideal location for the event and will offer a nice ride for participants. Organizers will have use of a community centre and will add a large tent to accommodate the indoor activities.

Service clubs in the Fenelon area will be contacted about providing food for the riders, said German. The Ride for Sight is being held on June 7, 8 and 9. If all goes well, German said the organizers will continue holding the Ride in Fenelon Falls.

In step

In the biting cold and blustery wind, a crowd of people turned out in Minden last Sunday to gather before the county cairn in honour of Remembrance Day. Members of the Minden, Kinmount and Haliburton Legion were in attendance, and the Legion band marched down the main street. Rev. Brian Parker shared some words of wisdom about wars, both past and present. And a number of members of the community, like Hyland Crest's Alice Todd pictured with Ken Walsh, took the opportunity to lay a wreath in honour of those who died for their country.

Spirit

Plans for a Hometown Community Christmas Celebration being developed by the BIA and service clubs in Minden deserve full appreciation and support from all residents and businesses.

The success of last year's Lions Club Santa Claus parade proves there is a strong sense of community spirit in Minden waiting to be tapped.

Instead of just maintaining the status quo, the BIA, Kinettes and Lions are combining forces to build on last year's success and provide greater opportunity for people to become involved in a community-oriented Christmas spirit.

With the local economy feeling the effects of the current recession, local business owners are apprehensive after a disappointing summer and an uncertain future.

With that in mind it's encouraging to see that the people involved with the hometown Christmas celebration have adopted a positive attitude with respect to the holiday season.

If the response from the community comes anywhere close to matching the effort and optimism of the organizers this could prove to be one of the most successful and memorable Christmas seasons Minden has seen in years.

The purpose of the celebration is really two-fold. Not only will the parade and tree decoration activities bring the community together to share in the spirit of the season, the weekend will also encourage residents to shop locally.

Money spent in local businesses this Christmas will stay in the community all year long.

Supporting stores in the village helps create and maintain jobs and for many local businesses a successful Christmas could mean the difference in surviving the winter.

The community needs to pull together and the efforts of the BIA, Lions and Kinettes are providing us with the perfect opportunity.

If these efforts are rewarded with enthusiastic support from all residents, the result will be a truly special Christmas.

Canada's attitude is changing

Black 'n White

by Arthur Black

Is it my imagination, or is our country shrinking?

I don't mean just the threatened amputations of Quebec, Oka, the Innu Nation, the Dene people, the western provinces and Quasi-Utopias-To-Be-Announced.

I don't mean just the pathetic pygmies of Parliament Hill — those strutting imposters, elected and otherwise, who squawk and scramble in ever decreasing circles, barely pausing long enough to cash their bloated paycheques.

When I talk about Canadian shrinkage, I mean the very idea and essence of our country. Seems to me Canadians used to be gentler, more generous. The Canada I grew up in was a quiet backwater of a nation, easy-going, a little dull maybe, but liberally doused with a live-and-let-live attitude.

Canada's not like that anymore — at least not on the mean streets I've been driving lately. There's a New Yorkish brittleness in conversations I overhear in bars and on the buses. The spirit of Canada seems to have denegrated into that of a particularly ugly bush-league hockey game.

Exhibit A: APEC — the Alliance For the Preservation of English In Canada. This is a group that claims to want to "save English". In fact, it is simply a catch basin for all those tiny minds and stunted souls who believe life would be beautiful if we could just unload the French Canadians.

These are the folks who suffer anxiety attacks when they find themselves faced with the French-language side of the Rice Krispies box on the kitchen

Thank you from the Studio Tour

Editor:

It has come to my attention that a public thank you was overlooked with regard to all the help we received this year promoting the Haliburton County Studio Tour.

To the two local papers, Sir Sandford Fleming College, all the stores and businesses, and all the lodges and resorts who helped distribute our brochures, we would like to say a very big thank you.

Without the help we receive from everyone, the Tour would never be the success it is.

Thank you very, very much.

table. These are the people who believe there's a Quebecois plot to (as they love to say) "ram French down our throats".

These are some terminally paranoid people. One hesitates to be the bearer of bad tidings, but it's a job that has to be done, I guess. Fact is, APEC-ers, you might as well fold up your petitions and go home — you're already whipped. It's too late to preserve English from the depredations of French. That battle's already been lost.

About 924 years ago.

Back in 1066, a chap by the name of William the Conqueror invaded England and, as conquerors will, demanded that his new subjects speak his language — to wit: Norman French. As a result, approximately 50 per cent of the language we speak today comes from the French — or from Latin words that are also used in French.

Wanna meet some Norman French invaders face-to-face? abbot, beauty, Bible, court, dress, feast, joy, liberty, marriage, navy, parliament, people, pleasure, prayer, reign, soldier, treasure, verdict, war.

French words, tous.

Willy the Conqueror indulged in some serious French throat-ramming and gave us the language that the Alliance for the Preservation of English is campaigning to "save".

Alliance members have nothing to fear but their own timidity. Other countries such as Belgium and Luxembourg survive very nicely on a multi-lingual foundation. All it takes is an attitude change. APEC members — all Canadians — shouldn't regard another language as a threat or a curse. It's a blessing. English will not be mortally wounded by Bourassa's infamous Bill 109 — or anything else myopic bureaucrats throw at it. English has clout. After Mandarin, it's the most widely spoken language in the world.

It all depends on how you handle it. We can be like APEC and babble of plots and subterfuge. Or we can be like Switzerland with four recognized languages (and I guess the biggest Rice Krispie boxes in the Western world).

Or if we were really brave we could be like Mike Hayes.

Mike runs a car dealership in Newport, Vermont, a town not far from the Quebec border. He's set up French classes for his entire sales staff, the better to sell cars to Quebeckers. "Just 'cause we're American," says Mike, "doesn't mean we don't want to learn."

"I mean, if learning French is gonna help me sell cars, I'm gonna do it. What could be more American than that?"

Only in America, you say? C'est dommage.

Reforming the school boards may take time

by Susan Grober

If anyone understands the adverse effects of frustration, it's Dianne Austin.

As a mother, she fought with the Save Our Schools coalition against the closure of five Victoria County schools, and lost. As a Norland resident, she fought the closure of the town's 10-year-old post office, and lost. And as a member of the Victoria County Board of Education, she has fought to strengthen the role of trustees and improve access to information.

This last battle is far from over, and Austin is determined to see it through to the end.

Austin is secretary and a founding member of the Ontario School Board Reform Network, a group of trustees from across the province who are working together to overcome the frustrations they share.

"We're not all dealing with the same situations, but we face the same difficulties when we're dealing with problems," says Austin.

Formed last June, the coalition aims to change the Education Act to give elected trustees more decision-making power, and to change the role of Directors of Education. What drew Austin to the group was its goal to improve access to information for trustees, a problem she could really relate to.

"Under the Education Act, trustees are only allowed to see what any member of the public can see," she says.

Austin was elected as trustee for Somerville-Bexley in 1988 after campaigning on a Save Our Schools platform. Then Austin discovered she couldn't get information on the subject from closed board meetings held before she was elected.

"So I put a request in writing to the Director of Education, and the board's solicitor said I did not require that information as a trustee," says Austin, who was infuriated. "How can he determine what information I need or don't need?"

Ironically, Austin had previously seen the information along with other SOS members when she had inadvertently been given the closed minutes. But as an elected, decision-making member of the board, she couldn't lay her hands on it.

"As trustees, we're expected to make major financial decisions, but how can we do that if we don't have all the facts?" she asks. "Are we supposed to make decisions in a vacuum?"

Austin hopes under the new Freedom of Information Act maybe some of this information will be made available. "It just may take months to get it."

And she has some idea why she was denied the information in the first place. "Administrative staff does not support my position on northern school closures."

Administration also wasn't too pleased when Austin voted against a request to build an expansion to the Education Centre where there offices are housed. "There's no way I'd agree to that with one-third of our kids in portables." The expansion request ended up losing out by one vote.

This active board member hasn't found much sympathy from fellow trustees, either. Many don't approve of her approach.

Trustee Dianne Austin is trying to reform the role of school boards in Ontario.

When the centre expansion was voted on, Austin successfully requested a recorded vote. But the next time she asked for one, she was told trustees need a seconder and a majority of the board in support, and the request was denied.

"They said it was board policy, but I couldn't find it anywhere. At the next board meeting, they passed a motion saying a seconder and a majority is needed."

Despite the setbacks, Austin maintains she and other reform network members aren't out to win a popularity contest.

"We're not making any friends with some of the trustees, but we aren't here to make friends," she says. "There are good things going on in the schools, but there are problems and they should be addressed."

One incident which angered Austin occurred during the summer when the board formed a committee of four trustees and four administrative staff members to interview candidates for a superintendent position.

Austin spoke out when the board passed a motion to give hiring power to the committee, because this contravenes the Education Act (only board members have this power).

Eventually, the board solicitor agreed with Austin's position. But she resents having to keep on eye on the activities of the board in this and other situations.

"Trustees set the policy, and sometimes the administrators don't follow it," she says. "How do we know if our policy is being followed? We're expected to be the watch dog of the system, but it's a pretty big thing to watch."

Austin feels trustees need more power in order to do their jobs properly. Although it's not a problem on all boards, she says on some the trustee's role is forgotten in the shuffle.

"Without rights within the Education Act, we're almost ineffectual. We serve no purpose."

Austin and others like her don't want to act as puppets to carry out the wishes of Directors of Education.

Members of the reform network feel directors have too much responsibility. Under the Education Act, the director is identified as chief education officer and chief executive officer of the board by which he's employed. He also acts as a chief administrative officer of sorts. "That's just too many jobs for one person," says Austin.

So the reform network would like to see the role of Directors reviewed under the Education Act, as well as any other matters to solidify the authority of trustees over board program and financial decisions.

This recommendation was made by the Select Committee on Education, composed of Members of Parliament and at least three former school trustees, in a report released in January.

Len Salvatori, Chairman of the Haliburton County Board of Education, says he personally disagrees with the reform network. "I know that there are some directors who will do what they want to do. But maybe it's the board's fault.

"We hire these people, and we pay them a lot of money, and we should let them run with the ball... Who am I to tell an educator what's right and wrong?"

Salvatori feels if there are problems they should be dealt with internally. Some boards suffer from a lack of communication between trustees and administrators.

"If they're not satisfied with the director, then they should deal with it. If I didn't have the confidence in our director and supervisor and our principals, then I'd look into it."

Salvatori also says Haliburton County is blessed with an effective system and a good Director of Education, Stuart Baker. "If there's any information I want, I can get it from the director and the business administrator (Jim Bradley). There's not a piece of information that I know of that I can't get my hands on."

However, not all boards are so fortunate. And Austin would like to see changes through legislation. Not only to control the power of Directors of Education, but that of trustees as well.

Often she's reminded that the job of a trustee is reviewed every three years when there's an election, and you can kick out the bad ones after those three years. "But what about the damage that can be done in that period?" she asks.

"Where's the accountability? There's got to be some checks and balances during the three year term. There has to be, or we're in serious trouble."

Ratepayers are upset because Victoria County has passed double digit tax increases over the past five years mainly because of rising education costs, she says, "and it's going to get worse, now that we're in a recession. So we're going to get more accountable whether we like it or not, because the masses are going to demand it."

And she doesn't want ratepayers to suffer the same experience she did when approaching the board for the first time over the Save Our Schools issue in 1986.

Her daughter Alanna, now five, was just a baby then. But Austin was looking out for her future when she made a presentation in hopes of disuading the board from deciding to close the Norland, Burnt River, Coboconk, Kinmount and Kirkfield schools, replacing them with two larger schools to be built in Coboconk and Kirkfield.

Armed with reports on the quality of small schools and an array of questions, Austin was shocked by the way she was received by the board.

"I was so naive," she says now. "Never did it enter my mind that they wouldn't answer one of my questions. They said, 'We can ask questions of you, but you can't ask questions of us' I kept going through each of my 15 questions, and they never responded."

When she first approached the podium, the board chairman left the room. "I didn't know any better, so I just waited for him to return. I waited for seven minutes until he finally returned. It wasn't until later I learned he had not relinquished the chair, so if I had proceeded, my presentation needn't have been in the minutes."

If things are going to change, it must be through legislation. The way things are now, "it's like the boards are little fiefdoms and nobody can fight them," says Austin.

In the end, she says, the fight is for the good of the people. That's something she wishes those who object to the methods of the reform network will understand.

In the meantime, she learning to work around the frustration.

CHACE needs a new home and looks to Minden council for help

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Minden council is considering a request by the County of Haliburton Agency for Child Enrichment (CHACE) to sell a piece of the property in the park for a new resource centre.

CHACE administrator Cheryl Cathcart attended last Thursday's meeting and told council the current location of the Minden resource centre, at the corner of Main St. and South Water St. can no longer meet the agency's needs.

Cathcart said the centre is used by 1500 people a month and some days as many as 150 parents and caregivers visit the facility.

As well as being short on space, the building that houses the centre currently has been sold and CHACE's lease runs out in May.

The agency has been searching for a new location for the past six months, said Cathcart, but has been unable to find anything suitable.

She asked that council consider selling CHACE approximately 7500 square feet of land near the arena.

The operation of the two CHACE resource centres are totally funded by the Ministry of Community and Social Services and, although no approval for funding has been received yet, Cathcart said the ministry would provide 80 per cent of the cost of purchasing land and constructing a building.

Because of the demand for the centre in the village and the services it provides to the community, Cathcart said she hopes council will help the agency out.

On the property, Cathcart said the agency wants to build a 2000 square foot building. She said the agency has estimated the cost of the building at about $175,000 and is looking to pay $75,000 to $100,000 for the property.

Deputy-Reeve Bern Berry told Cathcart that Minden is in the process of selling five acres of parkland to the county for the new county offices and the Staanworth Non-Profit Housing Corporation is also hoping to acquire another three acres in the park.

"When do we say no," said Berry. "When do we say, this is our park and we're losing too much."

Although he said CHACE's request is an interesting proposal, Berry said he would like to see the outcome of the other two sales before council considers selling more of the park.

Councillor Mike Maher suggested that the municipality could investigate the possibility of selling the agency township property located somewhere other than the park. He suggested that township staff should research other alternatives.

Councillor Lewis Stevens asked Cathcart why the agency approached the township for land and suggested there might be land for sale in Minden that already have buildings.

CHACE looked at quite a few other properties, said Cathcart, but because of the agency's need for buildings with open space, existing structures would require renovations. Because the agency is looking to meet its long-term needs, Cathcart said the easiest option is to buy the land and have a building constructed that would suit the requirements.

Berry asked Cathcart if the agency was hoping the township would be "benevolent" when it came to negotiating a price, because of the role the resource centre plays in the community.

Cathcart agreed the agency is hoping for a break in the cost of the land and said the other groups in the township, both profit and non-profit, have access to the have difficulty with some of the more obscure details, but she knew what he did or what he tried to do to her."

He said the girl shouldn't be punished because it took 10 years before charges were laid. Attitudes toward such assaults were slightly different then, and "more likely to be swept under the rug," he said.

"Let not her mother's actions rebound on her again... let her stand on her own two feet," he said, adding that inconsistencies in the other testimonies should not override the girl's testimony.

After a final recess, Judge Inrig dismissed both charges. "I believe (the girl) was doing the best she could (in her testimony), but I'm concerned with the reliability of evidence of a five year old," he said.

The judge said he's aware certain early events will stand out in a person's life, but may over a period of time be misinterpreted or reinterpreted.

"I certainly have some very strong suspicions that something happened that was of concern to (the girl)," he said. "But I cannot beyond a reasonable doubt conclude" that she was assaulted.

Judge Inrig also noted there were some inconsistencies in testimony. One he expanded on was that the girl's mother didn't want to report the incident because she didn't want to cause a break in friendship, "but it did break for seven years."

Children should shape their destiny

Reflections

by David Suzuki

"And a little child shall lead them." (Isaiah 11:6).

In the Old Testament, it is only after Armageddon that children become leaders.

Let's hope we can avoid an environmental Apocalypse but while it may be too much to expect children to lead the way, they do have a major role to play in helping to solve the current eco-crisis.

Like the child in the parable about the Emperor with no clothes, most children can see with clarity and innocence and tell it like it is. That's because they don't have an investment in maintaining the status quo, nor the blinders that adults develop along with their priorities and values.

We grown-ups say that our children matter to us more than anything else on earth. If so, that love should make us care deeply about the kind of world they will grow up in.

Over the half century of my lifetime the planet has changed beyone belief - the once vast assemblages of wildlife and seemingly endless ancient forests have been drastically reduced to mere vestiges of what they were.

We know with absolute certainty that our children will inherit a world with radically diminished biological diversity and massive global pollution of air, water and soil.

If we do love our children, what excuse can we possibly have for not pulling out all stops to try to ensure that things don't get worse?

Children may be powerless politically, economically and legally, yet they are the ones with the greatest stake in the decisions that are or are not being made right now. In fact, most of the people currently in power in government and business will not have to live with the consequences of their action or inaction, it will be today's youngsters who become adults in the 21st century.

That's why children have to take an active role in shaping their own destiny.

One way is to influence their parents. Schools are having an enormous impact on children, making them more aware of environmental issues than many of their parents. Those parents are important people - lawyers, labourers, doctors, homemakers, politicians - that is, the people who make up all of society.

Those environmentally concerned children can have a powerful impact then on the most important adults in society.

If children can't influence their folks, who can?

And children can inspire by their own outlook and actions. At Lord Tennyson Elementary School in Vancouver, a group of Grade 6 girls has formed a club called the Environmental Children's Organization (ECO).

They are committed to working on projects to educate their fellow students, teachers and parents about environmental problems. They are preparing slide shows about various environmental issues to present during school meetings in auditoriums and they eventually want to print a paper and encourage children in other schools to form ECO groups.

The seeds of ECO began when Severn, a 10 year old, started making out of a ceramic material her version of fad brooches called geckoes. She has always been interested in nature and wanted to do something for the environment.

Calling her products eco-geckoes, she displayed them in school and was deluged with orders from students and teachers alike.

At 50 cents apiece, the eco-geckoes were a bargain compared to the store prices for the factory made products.

Severn wasn't much of a businessperson and eventually realized that it cost her more for the materials than she was getting for the products.

Today, charging four dollars apiece, she still has a backlog of orders and has raised over $150!

The girls who were buying the eco-geckoes were keen on getting involved too and so they helped to form ECO. Their first ECO project is on the Penan people who live in the tropical rainforests of Sarawak in Malaysia.

One of the members was inspired by a talk given by Thom Henley from the Sarawak Circle which is working to publicize the plight of the Penan - nomadic hunter gatherers who live in rich tropical rainforests.

Currently, logging is cutting into the forests of Sarawak at a horrifying rate that is pushing many of the Penan into squalid settlements.

The waters of the Penan forests are being polluted with silt from logging and effluent from the encroaching populations.

Part of the Circle's project involves helping the Penan by purchasing simple but effective filters to clean the polluted waters.

The filters cost about $300 apiece and the girls in ECO are trying to raise enough money to buy one.

ECO members are now designing and making products ranging from earrings to bead bracelets to origami animals.

They are also soliciting donations and with over $200 are well on their way to their goal.

The girls did all of this on their own initiative and as Severn's dad, I am proud and amazed at what they are doing.

It is inspiring to see that children are concerned and remain convinced that they can make a difference. Perhaps they will lead us.

Local musicians HAVE good time and raise money

These members of In Harmony provided enlightening gospel music at the seventh annual HAVE benefit concert held at the high school last Saturday. In Harmony is comprised of six people from St. George and St. Anthony churches. Four other local music acts performed at the charity event, which raised over $750 which will go toward purchasing school supplies for the children of Gambia, Africa.

The Tomorrow Box starts soon

Highlands Little Theatre members are now well into rehearsals for their fall production of Anne Chislett's The Tomorrow Box.

This light-hearted but poignant drama explores the tensions that arise in a typical rural Ontario family. The father (played by Lloyd Johnson) sells the farm, the house and all its contents to his son (Doug Brohm) without even mentioning it to his wife (Irene Lubowitz) and announces that he is taking her to Florida to retire.

Understandably, this creates a lot of stress, especially when the daughter-in-law (Shelley van Nood) and her lawyer sister (Kim Coulter) become involved. The strained relationships between both the generations and the sexes are often comically portrayed but always possess the "ring of truth" that we can all identify with.

The Tomorrow Box (directed by Glen Carter, and produced by Heather Scully) is coming to H.H.S.S. November 30, December 1, 7 and 8. Emmerson Lumber Ltd. is very pleased to sponsor this entertaining presentation. Tickets available at Paulette's, Haliburton, or The Storeroom, Minden. Since reserve seating was so successful in the past production, once again 50 of our best seats will be made available each night by contacting Anne Creelman at 457-2025 for reserved seating only.

Catch Men's League Hockey action every Monday at the arena starting at 7 p.m.

Six skated at the Skokie

There were six skaters from the Minden Club who took part in the "Skokie Skate Invitational" which was held in Huntsville last weekend.

The first skater from our Club to step on the ice was Louise Howell. Louise skated in Pre-Juvenile "B" Ladies placing 6th in her flight.

In the Juvenile "B" Ladies were Kristi Barkwell, Andrea Pawluch and Marita Schrader. Kristi placed 2nd, Andrea 1st and Marita 5th in their separate flights. Kristi and Andrea advanced to the finals with Kristi placing 8th and Andrea placing 1st, thus winning the "Juvenile Ladies "B" Event".

Janene Garbutt skated in the "Pre-Novice "A" Ladies Event placing 2nd in her flight and 3rd overall, bringing home a Bronze medal.

Cori Barkwell skated in "Pre-Novice Competitive" placing 3rd in her flight, just missing out advancing to the finals.

These skaters represented the Minden Skating Club with excellent sportsmanship and did a great showing in such a competitive competition. Congratulations, Ladies.

Peterborough club hosts skating event

Each year the Eastern Ontario Sectionals is held in various towns located in Eastern Ontario. This year the Peterborough Figure Skating Club will be hosting this competitive event starting 14th to 18th of November.

In order for a skater to take part in the events, they must qualify by passing the 2nd figure and Junior Bronze Freeskate. The winners of these events continue on to Divisonals and Canadians.

Silver: Scott Bailey, Stephen Ecclestone, Daniel Vanderlip, Donald Todd, Seamus Donnery, Anthony Mestroni, Tommy Bagshaw, Chris Eskelin, Philip Daniels, Ben Ripley, Chuck Hopkins.

Gold: Dennis Woods, Jarrett Campbell.

Four local skaters going to sectionals has four skaters participating in Sectionals this season.

Kristi Barkwell and Janene Garbutt will be skating at Sectionals for the first time. They will be competing in the "Juvenile Ladies "B" Event".

Cori Barkwell will make her second appearance at Sectionals and will skate in the "Pre-Novice "B" Event".

Lisa Carr, who has been training in Ottawa, will skate in the "Junior Ladies Event" for the first time.

These skaters are expertly coached by Jane Symons, who has given constant encouragement and guidance.

The Minden Skating Club executive and members wish these four skaters "Good Luck". We know they will represent our club with pride.

We would also like to congratulate one of our executive members. Toni Carr, who has been asked to judge the Juvenile Ladies and Men's A and B events. Toni has worked very hard improving her judging standards and now has this honour of judging in Sectionals. "Congratulations, Toni".

The pubic is invited to watch this great skating. Further information can be obtained from any of the executive.

Heating in the Winter. Air Conditioning in the Summer. It's all there, right under our Feet.

If you want to reduce your electric heating bill, look down at your feet. Now look a few feet further. Look at the earth itself. It could be your next source of heating and air conditioning.

Ground source heat pumps are designed to draw heat from the earth and pump it into your home. In the summer, the ground source heat pump reverses its operation. It extracts heat and humidity from your home and pumps it into the earth. The excess heat can also be used to heat domestic hot water or swimming pools and hot tubs.

This is truly the cleanest most efficient way to heat and air condition your home. And while ground source heat pumps cost more than traditional furnaces and air conditioners they soon pay for themselves with savings. That's why today's progressive home builders and renovators are specifying them for their clients.

Call us for more information about ground source heat pumps. You'll see that one of the most advanced technologies in heating and cooling is as old as the earth itself.

Novices victorious over Bobcaygeon

Thursday, November 1, OMHA Novices travelled to Bobcaygeon for a 6 p.m. game. The game got started with Bocaygeon catching Minden off guard. In minutes, they had popped in their first and only goal. The Minden boys never looked back. They just kept driving them in until they had racked up seven goals. With our strong defense and superb goaltending, Bobcaygeon was unable to break through.

Our goal scorers were: Matt Reid 1, unassisted; Adam Durkin 2, 1 assisted by Shawn Casey, the second assisted by Nick Kulas; Danny Jordan 1, unassisted; Cameron Neville 1, assisted by Reid; Kulas 1, unassisted; Danny Vanderlip 1, unassisted. Final score 7 - 1. Nice game boys.

Saturday, November 3, we were home to Cannington. Although Cannington had a fairly strong squad, our boys really got it together for this game.

Danny Jordan started things off with a pass from Danny Vanderlip. Minutes later Nick Kulas drove one in unassisted. Once again Vanderlip broke through to score one of his own, unassisted.

In the third period Danny Jordan gained control again and shot it between the pipes, ending the game 4 - 0.

This is the best game these boys have played this season, and they played together in team effort.

Exciting game ends in tie

Friday, October 26, the Minden OMHA Re/Max Novices travelled to Woodville for a 6 p.m. game.

It was a back and forth game with lots of excitement until defenseman Matt Reid broke through and scored unassisted. Not to be outdone, Woodville came back with a couple of quick goals. Minden kept struggling along until finally Shawn Casey picked it up behind the net and tucked it in the corner assisted by Nick Kulas tying it up.

Once again Matt Reid put us ahead on a pass from Adam Durkin. With only minutes left, Woodville came back to tie it 3 - 3.

Saturday, October 27 they were back on the ice, but not on track. They came up against Fenelon Falls.

In the first eight minutes of the game, Fenelon was up 5 goals. Second period, our boys came to life, with centre Nick Kulas flying up and down the ice and finally coming in contact with the goalpost. He was carried off the ice, but reports from home say it was just a bruised shin. Finally Danny Jordan picked up a pass from Gary Kernohan and shot it between the posts.

Fenelon also got back on track netting a couple more to end the game 7 - 1.

This was the third day in a row for our boys and it seemed to take a while to get started.

Local MPP is caucus chairman

Dennis Drainville, M.P.P. for Victoria-Haliburton, has been elected Caucus Chair for the Ontario Government.

Drainville won the position of first ballot against three other candidates. Caucus consists of all the members of the NDP Government and will meet once a week when the house sits and Caucus Chair is the facilitator for the members and is responsible for setting the agenda.

It is an important forum to bring together Cabinet Members and back benchers.

Drainville says the job is to insure the free flow of information between all the members and he is pleased that his fellow Caucus members have confidence in him to perform this important duty for the new government and for the constituents of Victoria-Haliburton.

"As chair of Caucus, I will be able to know more of whats happening in Government. It will provide an opportunity to keep closer tabs on issues affecting Victoria-Haliburton," said Drainville.

The position begins immediately.

Official opening of MPP's office

MPP for Victoria-Haliburton, Dennis Drainville will be holding the official opening for his new constituency office on Friday, November 23, 1990, from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Talk of community organizations joining forces

Volunteers and staff involved in the delivery of community support services gathered recently for a two-day conference in Haliburton.

From Haliburton County Home Support Services, Victoria Agnew, Adele Barnes, Marion Kennedy, Donna Pacey, Carol Dewey and Sherry Mulholland attended.

The event attended by over 90 representatives was jointly sponsored by three provincial associations; namely, Meals on Wheels of Ontario, the Ontario Association of Visiting Homemakers, and the Ontario Home Support Association. Provincially, the three Associations are currently entering into discussion concerning the eventual merger of the three organizations. Discussing the ramifications of this merger on local service delivery prompted lively discussion.

Further discussion centered around the proposed reform strategies of Long Term Care. Participants were introduced to the new area manager, Dennis Fereno. He encouraged representatives to be active participants in the reform process. "Integral to New Democratic Policy Development is local involvement", he reminded the audience. "You know your clients needs and how to best meet those needs; therefore, your input is vital." Client needs may include transportation service, meals on wheels, homemaking, home maintenance, friendly visiting, information and referral, security and emergency response.

Guest speaker, former N.D.P. member of Parliament, Richard Johnston, provided insight into current government policy directions. His comprehensive knowledge of home support services acquired while employed as the first director of Durham Community Care combined with his political savvy resulted in a most informative session.

Workshops ranging from "Creative Strategies for Rural Service Delivery" to "Preparing for Change" were offered on the second day of the Joint Conference.

Bonnie Davidson wrapped up the two-day event with her challenge to face the future with confidence. A renewed commitment to caring, to courage and creativity will equip us well for the days ahead.

Recycling Week has a co-ordinator

Archie Stouffer Elementary teacher Bernie Davis has been appointed Anson, Hindon and Minden's co-ordinator for Recycling Week.

Davis accepted the position at last week's council meeting and said she plans to involve local students with environment-related activities.

Council asked Davis to act as coordinator for Recycling Week, which runs from Nov. 19 to 25, in response to a request from the Recycling Council of Ontario.

In recognition of the week, Davis said students will meet with council at the Nov. 22 meeting and will follow up with a more comprehensive presentation at the Dec. 13 meeting.

The theme of this year's Recycling Week is 'The Future is R's; Reuse, Reduce and Recycle and Davis said the students will focus on ways to reduce the amount of waste going into area land-fill sites. She said waste reduction is easier for the area to handle than waste recycling.

Judge considers man's attempts to reform

The following cases were heard by Judge George Inrig on November 7 in provincial court in Minden.

BREAK AND ENTER

Melanie Anne Austin of Toronto pleaded guilty to breaking into and entering a Gooderham restaurant and stealing $190 worth of cigarettes, gum and chocolate bars.

The judge was told on September 9 Austin gained entrance to the restaurant through a window and left the same way.

A search warrant was executed on the residence where Austin was staying. She readily admitted to the break and enter and told the police she was alone at the time.

Austin has no previous record, and had just turned 18 a month before the incident occurred, court was told.

The judge asked for a pre-sentence report, and the matter was adjourned until January 16 for sentencing.

Austin was released on an undertaking that she keep the court informed anytime she moves before she is sentenced.

REHABILITATION ATTEMPTS TAKEN INTO ACCOUNT

Kevin Sean Johnson of Minden pleaded guilty to willfully damaging the entrance door of a residence this summer.

The night of August 21, Johnson called the owner of the residence, asking to speak with his sister, court was told.

Johnson later appeared at the house, seemingly intoxicated, and proceeded to kick the door down, enter the home and yell at the people inside. He then took off, leaving behind an estimated $226 damage.

Restitution for the damage has already been made, Johnson informed the judge. "I also realize it's not acceptable behaviour, sir, and it's not me as a person doing that," he said. "I'm sorry that I did that, and it will never happen again."

Johnson added he has been taking part in a family violence men's group since before the incident occurred, and has attended Alcoholics Anonymous for the last seven weeks.

Court was told Johnson has a previous record of convictions, including drug trafficking and theft under $1,000, but nothing in almost six years.

Because of his actions to straighten himself out, Judge Inrig suspended sentence and put Johnson on one year probation, maintaining that he must continue to attend the two self-help groups.

SAME VEHICLE STOLEN TWICE

David Joseph MacAusland of Stanhope pleaded guilty to a series of charges including break and enter, theft, and failure to appear in court.

Court was told that on June 19, 1989, MacAusland stole a 1982 Chevrolet pickup truck from Curry Motors in Haliburton. The truck had been parked outside with the keys in the ignition, and MacAusland drove it around town for a few hours before returning it to Curry's.

MacAusland also pleaded guilty to another incident of breaking into a storage shed between July 10 and 11 in Guilford Township. A lawn tractor, snowmobile and 1988 Yamaha all-terrain vehicle owned by John Salvatori were kept inside. The accused was later stopped by police while riding the $1,200 ATV, which was not damaged.

A few days after he was released, on July 17, MacAusland returned to the storage shed, forced open the back door, and willfully damaged the same all-terrain vehicle, court was told. When the vehicle was recovered on Harburn Road eight days later it had a flattened flat tire and was scratched.

MacAusland also pleaded guilty to breaking into and entering the home of Rick Franklin on July 28 or 29, and possessing $680 worth of goods taken from the home, including a BB gun, jacket and quantity of alcohol. Another person was with him at the time, but didn't enter the house, court was told.

After this occurrence was discovered, police attended the house of the accused's mother, who found the jacket in his bedroom. The BB gun and a bottle of peppermint schnapps were returned by the co-accused.

Judge Inrig held off sentencing until January 16.

MAN FINED FOR DAMAGE

Jerry Whitlock, 23, of North Bay pleaded guilty to willfully damaging an $110 electric grinder and $158 cement mixer owned by his former employer, general contractor Jerry Schuitemaker.

Court was told that on June 12 this year, Whitlock damaged the equipment with a heavy piece of metal after deciding to quit work.

The damage was not noticed, and the accused was hired back on. However, a later bragging sesson about "how stupid his employer was" to re-hire ended up backfiring on Whitlock, said the crown counsel. Schuitemaker was told of the incident, fired Whitlock, and informed police about the damage.

When asked why he damaged Schuitemaker's equipment, Whitlock answered: "We had a little dispute."

Judge Inrig said the dispute couldn't have been too severe. "It didn't seem to bother your employer if he re-hired you."

Whitlock, who was previously convicted in 1988 for break and enter in Minden, was sentenced to one year probation and must pay a $235 fine. He must also provide restitution for the $268 damage.

Important Changes to Unemployment Insurance

Below are the highlights of changes to the Unemployment Insurance (UI) Act. These changes will affect most claims that start on or after November 18, 1990.

Qualifying for benefits

After November 18, you will need 10-20 weeks of work within the past year to qualify for regular UI benefits. The exact number of weeks you will need and how long you will be able to collect these benefits will depend on the unemployment rate in your area.

Maternity/ Parental benefits

Parents may be eligible for 15 weeks of maternity benefits (available to the mother) plus 10 weeks of parental benefits (available to either the mother or the father).

Parental benefits are also available in the case of an adoption.

Leaving a job

Individuals who leave their job without "just cause", are fired for misconduct or refuse a suitable job offer, can be penalized by losing from 7 to 12 weeks of benefits and having the amount of benefits reduced.

Working after age 65

If you work after age 65, you may now be eligible for UI. This change will be retroactive to September 23, 1988.

Home Hardware is this season's team to beat

Home Hardware is quickly becoming the team to beat in the Men's Hockey League having gone undefeated through the first four games of the season.

On Oct. 29, Home Hardware and Hartwick Insurance faced off for top spot in the league, tied at two games each.

Home lead Hartwick 4-0 going into the third period and unleashed an offensive attack scoring seven more goals in the last period.

Ken Barry lead the scoring blitz with four goals. Jeff Stamp, Ted Vasey, Ben Manuge, Kevin Hamilton, Barry Boice, Dave Rogers and Paul Walker were the other Home scorers.

The same night saw Westside Jug City snap a two-game losing streak by edging out the Rockcliffe team 3-2. Dave Hartwick scored two goals for Westside with Jerry Harrison adding the third. Jim Pettes and Jeff Howe scored the two Rockcliffe points.

In the third game, Sid Stamp Fuels beat The Times 9-6 with Ivan Ingram scoring four times for the Stamp team. Brian Shaw and Craig Crowe each scored a pair and Glen Hall scored a single. Scoring for The Times were Doug Allison with two, Andy Campbell with two and Andy McKenzie and Barry Shaw with one each.

On November 5 Home continued thier winning streak by overcoming Westside 9-6. Jeff Stamp and Dave Rogers each earned a hat-trick with singles coming from Paul Walker, Ben Manuge and Ed Gibbons

In the second scheduled game, The Times won by default when the Hartwick team failed to show.

The third game of the night was a 27-goal affair that ended with the Rockcliffe beating Stamp 15-12. The two teams ended the first period tied 3-3 but Rockcliffe broke it open in the second, scoring eight goals to Stamp's two. The Rockcliffe roll carried on into the opening minutes of the third period with three more goals to lead Stamp 14-5, but then the Stamp players attempted a comeback scoring seven goals and holding the Rockcliffe team to just one more.

It proved to be too little, too late though and the Rockcliffe team held on for the victory.

Scoring for Rockcliffe were Jason Stamp and Jeff Howe with four each, Scott Gartshore and Harold Cowen with three each and John Ballantyn with one.

On the Stamp side, Ivan Ingram and Glenn Hall scored five each and Craig Crowe added two more.

Helpful hints for avoiding the tax

family - 7% more.

Take your youngest kids to the early show of Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles - 7% more per turtle.

Drop of your kids off at a gymnastics class - 7% more.

And another one at the computer course - that's 7% more too.

Buy some popcorn and snacks at the movie theatre - 7% more.

Return home, put the kids to bed and sit down and write cheques for the utility bills,

The gas bill - 7% more

The oil bill - 7% more

The electricty bill - 7% more

Send a cheque to the plumber who fixed the leak in the bathroom sink - 7% more.

Put postage stamps on the envelopes - 7% more.

Try to relax in front of the television you just paid the 7% tax on.

Sit in your new chair - you paid the tax on that too.

Read a book - 7% more.

And if all of this is too much for you and you drop dead from paying this new tax - that will cost you 7% more too, because this tax even applies to funerals.

The only way you can avoid paying the tax is to:

- stop eating anything which isn't defined as "basic groceries" by Big Brother in the Department of Finance
- don't buy any more clothes or shoes
- unplug the phone
- unplug the TV
- turn off all the lights
- shut off the electricity
- turn off the furnace and sit in the basement
- and whatever you do - don't die!

And while you are down there, you might offer up a silent and tax free prayer that the Senate will defeat this outrageous new tax nightmare.

Parents support driver

An open letter to Mr. J. Bradley, Haliburton County Board of Education.

Concerning the article in the Minden Times about Jack Pripp's bus that runs Hwy. 35.

We have lived in Haliburton County for three years and during that time our daughter has attended A.S.E.S. and is in her first year now at H.H.S.S. During that time we have had no complaints about the bus service. The driver is competent and we feel that he is strict only when he needs to be.

It is not an easy job dealing with 40 to 50 kids, watching the other idiots on the roads and handling weather conditions at the same time. As far as rough language is concerned, they probably don't hear any worse on the bus than they do at home.

The driver of the route has our daughter on the bus from the beginning of the route until the end, she has never complained about his driving.

We have had occasion to drive behind the bus on our way to work and the driver has been cautious and given ample warning to other drivers when he is stopping to pick-up or drop-off passengers. Unless there is a problem beyond his control (i.e. weather, traffic or helping another driver) you can set your watch by him coming and going.

This letter is to let you and him know not everyone is complaining and that his efforts are appreciated.

It takes a special breed of person to drive that route day in and day out. Anyone who lives up here knows the unpredictable weather conditions and traffic concerns along winding roads. It is the bus company and driver's discretion that decides the safest pick-up and drop-off points for our children, and if the children have to walk a little way to ensure their safety, so be it. I would rather have my daughter walk to a safe bus stop than to have her and the bus plowed down by a transport truck or a car due to poor visibility.

Safe Judgement is the biggest part and we feel that there is no question that we have a driver that uses just that.

Daniel & Donna Nichols,
Nichol's Glass & Contracting, resource centre's facilities on weekends and evenings.

Reeve Ray Moore said the agency can only build on property with road frontage, and the only parkland with road frontage is along Parkside Cres. The township has negotiated with Staanworth to sell a piece of property in the same area.

Moore said council has to ask where they're going with the park, "if we keep cutting it up." Moore asked Cathcart when the agency has to find a new location for the centre. Cathcart said they would like to find out "in short order."

While CHACE has use of the downtown location until May, Cathcart said the more pressing problem is the one of overcrowding at the centre.

"We don't want to close the doors to people who do need the service," she said.

Maher said he had an idea that might accommodate both the agency and the township but said he wanted to discuss it in a closed session.

Council agreed to meet again with CHACE representatives to try and find a solution. "If we can help in any way, shape or form, that's where our responsibility is," said Moore.

Kids' Korner

by Jean Lacey

Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

WHERE EVERYONE IS SOMEONE AND JESUS CHRIST IS LORD!

Notes from Staanworth Court

"The world does not require so much to be informed as to be reminded." — More.

Our Residents' Club met in the Lounge for our Oct. meeting. Pres. Fred Knight chaired the meeting. A date of Oct. 17 was set to dine out at either the Red Umbrella, Carnarvon, or Kinmount Legion. Jean M., convenor, was to make arrangements and report back. Our Christmas party was decided to be on Dec. 5 in our Lounge. Darts games are to begin soon, taking place of our very enjoyable barbeques through the summer. (Thanks goes out to Len Trodd and his faithful consorts.)

A very appetizing supper was enjoyed by our folks at the Red Umbrella, Carnarvon. The meal consisted of turkey and trimmings, vegetables, and that traditional and tasty complement - pumpkin pie and ice cream. Much credit and our many thanks to their Cook and her gracious waitresses. On returning to our Court, we were entertained by slides showing the many experiences of Nurse Sylvia Howard in the early days of caring for the sick of Minden and district. Along with Dr. Jamieson and Nurse Olga Myles, they made a very dedicated threesome as they pioneered and served so faithfully. We also watched another show of slides of Henry Howe as he pioneered in the early days of logging in this County. As a young man he persevered and made a living. Now these slides may be seen at the Museum in our town. They are very informative and make one very proud to know these two folks and to witness their rugged (at times), yet necessary method of living and surviving at that time.

Sincere sympathy goes to the family and friends of the late Blanche Linton (90 years of age), and resident of Haliburton. Also heard that Mervin Shantz, a former resident, has passed away October 26, Cambridge, sympathy to that family as well.

Hamilton home was first stop on the new bus

Senior League

by Winnifred Barnum

Hello folks. Most of this week has been beautiful, sunny during the day but cold at night.

As usual we began the week by having a tea party. The ladies of the rug hooking class from Haliburton area served the residents a delicious tea. The ladies were Marge Fedorchuk, May Bradbury, Peggy Barklay, Isabella Thomas and Elinor Hamilton, who entertained us with playing the piano during our tea party. We certainly enjoyed both the tea party lunch, and the music. Grace Coburn, sang a familiar Hymn that was beautiful. Thanks to both ladies, we surely enjoyed their music. Thank you also to the other ladies who served the sumptuous lunch. It was Elinor Hamilton's home we went to on our first ride in the new bus. She has a beautiful home, and we had a lovely time, and lunch.

In the evening, Marg Prentice came, and called our bingo. We had an enjoyable evening, and thank her sincerely.

Happy Hour was held Friday afternoon. The program was by Gordon Kidd. He sang, and played the guitar with Doris on the piano. Near the final part of Happy Hour Isobel Keefer helped by singing a few songs with Gordon. It was really good. Gordon had to leave a little early so Doris and the volunteers finished up by singing some old songs. The volunteers were Mary Guillemin, Bonnie Fullan, Ellen Holden, and Don Holden looking after the bar.

I'm sorry to write that Lydia McNeil has been in Minden Hospital for a few days. I believe she came home yesterday.

Saturday members of the Minden Legion came to Hyland Crest, and gave each of us a poppy for Memorial Day. We appreciate this very much.

Sunday night chapel service was led by Rev. John Burgess, and Alice Jones was there to play the organ. Thanks to you both. It's rather difficult for one without the other.

Monday we had keep fit in the morning and Residents council in the afternoon in the auditorium. Reports were given by each

Dorset Acid Rain Report

The following report on precipitation events was recorded at the Ministry of Environment acid rain testing station in Dorset and compiled by Environment Canada.

This report covers the period of October 18 to November 3.

November 3, 3 mm rain, 4.3 pH, from Michigan and Lake Huron.

Environmental damage is usually observed in sensitive areas regularly receiving precipitation with pH less than 4.7. Readings of 4.0 pH or less are considered dangerous. The lower the reading, the more acidic the precipitation.

Tender No. 54-06-90

Tenders will be received by the Ministry of Natural Resources up to and including December 2, 1990 at 1:00 p.m. local time for the plowing and removal of snow from the parking lots at the Minden District office.

Further particulars and tender forms may be obtained from the Ministry of Natural Resources, Minden, Ontario K0M 2K0. Telephone 705-286-1521.

COUNTY OF HALIBURTON ROADS DEPARTMENT

SNOW REMOVAL

The Highway Traffic Act RSO 1980, C198 - S147, Revised 1982 States "No person shall park or stand a vehicle on a highway to interfere with the clearing of snow". A constable may have the vehicle removed from the roadway and stored at the owner's expense.

Section 157 states "No person shall deposit snow or ice on a roadway without permission in writing from the road authority responsible for maintenance of the road". The penalty on conviction is a fine of not more than $50.00.

The co-operation of all motorists in these matters would be appreciated for efficient winter maintenance of County Roads and the safety of others.

A ghostly Halloween crowd

(from page 22)

A very enjoyable evening was spent with our local children and young people on Hallowe'en. They did look so smart. Some enjoyed the clown that Jean C. entertained them with. (It was one of Henry H.'s menagerie of mobiles.) Come again next year. We will be expecting all 85 of you and more.

* * *

A few of our folks have been on the sick list, namely Vivien A., Lillian D., Henry H., and Art M. Corinne B. spent a few days at Hyland Crest and enjoyed her visit. She has not had very good health. May you all enjoy GOOD HEALTH soon.

Doris and Mel Foster enjoyed a bus trip early this month to the East Coast of the U.S.A., including Atlantic City and Ocean City. (On reading the brochures Doris shared with me, I was very interested in the beautiful wildlife sanctuaries and the Assateague Island Park set aside for the wild ponies, descendants of stock brought there by the early settlers of the 1600's. They are still protected).

How is your Memory these days? — Three sisters shared a home. One evening they were asked out to a party. It was raining; so the one sister went upstairs to get an umbrella, but forgot what she was after. Similarly the second sister had the same problem; but, the third commented — "My memory is O.K. I'll just rap on wood for luck. So she rapped on wood a couple of times — looked up and said — Come In!

On this note, let's not forget November 11 — the boys who never came back from those Wars - 1 and 2; and the disabled veterans.

Appreciation Tea being held at Hyland Crest

of the executives. Rheta Jones, administrator, reported on what has been done and is going to be done here at Hyland Crest. She also listened and dealt with a couple of complaints from residents. Then Doris Robertson gave her report on what she has planned for us during November and we decided what we were going to do before Christmas.

Monday evening Ena and York Marion showed the movies for us. One was "Portugal", it showed buildings that had been built centuries ago and are still very beautiful. The second one was "Peterborough Zoo" and short ones on "The deer" and "Gennet Island" near Perce Rock. We enjoyed them very much.

In the afternoon we had a demonstration of Avon products.

Tuesday Chapel service was conducted by Doris since a Pastor wasn't scheduled for Tuesday.

Those who attend the half hour of reading were happy to have Doris continue reading a book by Danielle Steele.

Since Everett Fearrey was sick there was no music Tuesday night.

Attention Readers

Comfort Clothing will be here November 29, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Family and friends are encouraged to come and help residents choose their fall and winter clothing.

All Volunteers

There will be an Appreciation Tea served on Wednesday, November 28, 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. We will be looking forward to seeing you there.

Pastor Murray was here Wednesday night for a service in the main lounge, and his wife came to sing. The residents thank them very much.

Yesterday, Tuesday and Wednesday Linda Fry came to see some of the residents. She is occupying herself by painting pictures on sweat shirts, and she does a good job of it. We were glad to see you Linda.

Helpline made for kids

by Doreen Hawman

The Canadian Children's Foundation's Helpline for children and youth began operation in June 1989. A toll-free line provides professional guidance to troubled children across the country in a friendly, anonymous manner, by way of a free telephone call. The service is available 24 hours a day 7 days a week.

The Helpline is aimed at: being available to children who want or need someone to talk to; letting children know that someone cares; helping to alleviate stress by talking about it; answering questions children can't ask elsewhere; providing an opportunity for earlier detection of a problem; helping and counselling children who are in a difficult situation and referring children to more help.

Children who need help may call free of charge using the toll-free number 1-800-668-6868.

If you would life further information about the service, contact your nearest Information Centre located in Haliburton and Minden. To phone, call 457-2733, Monday to Friday, or 286-4100 Monday and Tuesday.

Just For You!

HALIBURTON FAMILY VIOLENCE MEN'S GROUP
In Haliburton, there is a group counselling program to assist men, at no cost to them, in dealing with behaviours that physically, mentally or emotionaly hurt the ones they love. This is a confidential service that does not judge or condemn, but helps you and those around you live a less troubled life. For information, referral and support, leave a message 457-1088. tfn.

CARD OF THANKS

The 1st Minden Boy Scouts, Cubs and Beavers would once again like to give Marg & Ken Fielding and staff of General Lee's and Don Crowe and staff at Kawartha Dairy a great big Thank You for their delicious contributions to our annual "Apple Day" lunch. We would also like to thank all those who donated to our annual "Apple Day" fundraiser and all those wonderful moms and dads and Leaders who all donated their time. We couldn't do it without you.

IN MEMORIAM

ALGER: In loving memory of Kenneth G.W., November 16, 1989.

One year ago today
We had to let you go away
Your work on earth was done
And God wanted back his son.
But oh it's hard to be
Still here and without thee
Each day you're thought of
In a million ways
And one of these days
We'll be together again
And it will stop the pain.

Ever loved and remembered by wife Joan & family.
